

About us

Llewellyn Consulting is an independent economics advisory firm, based in the City of London.

We specialise in thought leadership and strategic analysis. We focus on macroeconomics, technology, policy, and political issues, providing early insight into key developments, turning points, risk, and implications for markets and economies.

We operate with a core team and a network of associates, recognised experts, and business partners, who work with us project-by-project.

We serve our clients through a bespoke range of services and subscription-based research. Our clients span the financial services sector, government, and industry, and generally work with us on a retainer basis.

Distinguishing features

Experience; unbiased and uncorrelated research; strong connections with senior policymakers and decision makers; involvement of our senior people throughout all projects; experienced in working constructively with in-house teams; communication in plain, clear English; total trust, discretion, and confidentiality.

Expertise

Macroeconomics	Economic policy	Finance and investment	Risk
Technology and AI	Energy and the environment	Infrastructure	Ageing and demographics

Our bespoke services

- Thought leadership – independent thinking to assist organisations in their outward-facing activities.
- Research and analysis – from data analysis and slide packs to notes, short papers, and major studies.
- Strategic advice – at all levels, and with stand-by access, from corporate planners and analysts to CEOs.
- Conferences, seminars, and roundtables – organising and hosting (including joint hosting).
- Speaking engagements – presenting at/participating in client events, incl. chairmanship and moderation.
- Board membership and attendance – in accordance with needs.
- Litigation support and expert witness – advising in legal disputes, from early case assessment through to resolution; expert opinion, reports, and testimony; attending legal hearings.

For examples of our bespoke research, click here.

Our subscription-based services

Well-researched, tightly-edited, regular pieces on themes and issues of current or prospective national, regional, or global significance. Extending beyond high-frequency commentary, these often challenge consensus thinking. The product range:

- Macro series: Global Letter (1 page); Comment (1-3 pages); Economic Risks (1 page); Focus (4+ pages); Chart of the month; Postcard (1 page)
- Technologies series: complementing our macro analysis, this series looks in detail at a range of important new technologies and their likely effects, both at the micro and at the macro levels.
- The service includes invitations to our quarterly conference calls, annual conference, & periodic seminars.

For A selection of our research, click here. ■